BITTERNESS GROWING IN INDIA TODAY

Severe Penalties Imposed by British Stir Resentment

Bombay, May 20.—(UP)—There has been a noticeable increase of bitterness in recent days between the Indian Swarajists, or independence seekers, and the officials of the government in India responsible for preserving order in this vast empire of Great Britain.

The bitterness has been aroused largely by the drastic measures the government has felt imperative to combat the growing independence spirit. The announcement of severe court martial sentences at Sholapur, disturbed mill town 220 miles south-east of here, especially added to the Indians' resentment.

The members and adherents of the congress were particularly angered by the heavy sentences given under the martial law regime at Sholapur to the president and secretary of the congress committee there. They were given five and seven years in prison, respectively. The congress leaders claimed their only offense during the riots recently was to display congress flags.

The summary regulation No. 11 under which they were convicted reads: "No person shall display any congress flag or similar emblem, or commit any act likely to prejudice public safety or mislead, hamper or imperil the military or pretend to perform duties nominally performed by constituted authority."

The secretary of the congress committee also was tried and convicted under Article VIII, providing no person can neglect or disobey any martial law or order, or obstruct officers.

Court martial sentences of four 15-year-old boys to whipping—three to 15 strokes and one to 10—aroused the Indian congress further.

It was announced in Bombay that 100 new volunteers had enlisted from among the stock exchange clerks as a result of yesterday's arrests during the "raid" on the Wadala salt pans on the outskirts of Bombay.

Business again was paralyzed in Bombay, owing to the closure of the stock exchange, cotton market, bullion exchange, cotton brokers' association and grain market as a protest against the Wadala arrests. The congress headquarters bitterly protested against the quality of food given the prisoners, many of whom went on a hunger strike, whereupon the warden improved the menu.

Somonaux Man Will Run For Senator On Democratic Ticket

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—(UP)—Although he received but one out of the two votes cast to the Democratic nomination of state senator in the thirty-fifth district, Charles Faltz, Somonaux, will be the democratic candidate from that district.

A ruling to that effect was made at a special meeting of the state canvassing board which was held here today. There were no Democratic candidates for state senator at the time of the primary election but Faltz's name was written on one ballot as was that name of "Newton Jenkins."

Faltz will be opposed for election as state senator by Harry G. Wright, DeKalb, the Republican nominee.

Slot Machine Yeggs Kill Man and Girl

Green Bay, Wis., May 20.—(UP)—A long series of slot machine burglaries in roadhouses around Green Bay was climaxed today by a double murder.

The bodies of John Van Veghel, roadhouse owner, and Lucille Birdsell, an employee, were found in Van Veghel's Golden Pheasant Inn. They had been beaten to death and two slot machines broken open and rifled.

A cash box in a bedroom was untouched and the cash register on the bar still held some money, strengthening the police theory that robbers had been surprised in the work and killed Van Veghel and Miss Birdsell for interfering.

FEDERATION HEARS OPENING SPEECHES AT STATE MEETING

Gov. Emmerson Gives Address of Welcome of Women Delegates

Springfield, Ill., May 20.—(UP)—Illinois' present revenue system was likened to the hoop skirts, water mills and covered wagons of pioneer days, by Governor L. L. Emmerson, in a speech before the annual convention of the Illinois federation of women's clubs here today.

The contrast was drawn in his welcoming talk to close to 1,000 delegates representing 800 Women's Clubs from all parts of the state, and was emphasized because of its timeliness in connection with the re-opening of a special session of the state legislature, called last week to consider a revision of the state tax system.

"You women outgrew the hoop-skirts of your grandmother's day and abandoned them, the state's earliest transportation, by horse or covered wagon, we outgrew that mode of transportation, and gave it up for the railroad, now we are giving up the railroad to a large extent insofar as passenger traffic is concerned in favor of the automobile and the airplane," Emmerson said. "So it is in all line of business and commerce; when we outgrow a thing, we junk it in favor of something which adequately meets the needs of the day."

"This seems to be true with regard to practically everything in the state except revenue. We are operating a 1930 government under an 1818 revenue plan, for the state's present revenue system, as embodied in the constitution of 1870, is picked up almost bodily from the constitution of 1848, which in turn was the theory of the constitution of 1818."

"As a result grave inequalities have grown up. In the early days of our state, a general tax upon tangible property—including real estate and personal holdings—was fair, because real estate consisted largely of farms, and was easy to assess, while personal property was of a nature not easily hidden. Today we have a great hidden wealth amounting somewhere between fifteen and seventeen billion dollars, which is completely escaping its share of taxation."

Baptised Baby Then Killed It To Avoid Gossip, Mother Says

Baton Rouge, La., May 20.—(UP)—Peter Rodosta, assistant manager of a large shoe store, and his bride of eight months, were arrested today and charged with the murder of their six-day-old baby.

Mrs. Rodosta, according to police confessed slaying her baby girl "because I was afraid of gossip." The body of the baby was found under the floor of a garage.

"I made a Christian of the child before killing her," the 21-year-old woman was quoted as saying. "I got some water and made the sign of the cross on her forehead and baptized her May Rone Rodosta."

HOOVER SEES GREAT FLEET IN MANEUVERS

Giant Warriors of the Sea in Stately Parade and Mimic War

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Aboard U. S. S. Saratoga, at Sea, off Virginia Capes, May 20.—(AP)—Over the blue waters of the Atlantic the massed naval power of the nation mobilized today to march in stately parade under the eyes of the commander-in-chief, President Hoover, and then deploy in battle maneuvers of sea and air far off shore.

Ships of the surface, from ponderous battleships to slender destroyers; giants of the undersea forces, the fleet of submarines V-2 and V-3; ships of the air, from the vast, silvery bulk of the non-combatant zeppelin, Los Angeles, to the tiny, one-man fighting planes, and the thronging air squadrons aboard the great carriers Saratoga and Lexington were included in the great sea muster.

A ten-mile sweep of blue ocean was the stage over which the navy, for the first time in history, assembled to play its mimic warfare with the chief executive of the nation looking on. Its focal point was the new eight-inch gun cruiser Salt Lake City, which put into Hampton Roads early in the day to take the chief executive and his party on board.

Was Great Spectacle.

Plans for the rushing mimic attacks by destroyers spreading their blinding smoke screen as they leaped through the screens, by cruisers sweeping in to support the lighter ships, by squadron after squadron of roaring airplanes all were made to center about the Salt Lake City and her distinguished company that the President might see for himself the navy at its grim business of keeping fit for battle.

The fleet itself, combining the United States fleet and the scouting fleet at sea with Admiral William V. Pratt, commander-in-chief, in personal command again after months of London naval conference work and committee appearances in Washington on the proposed new treaty, was specially organized for review and maneuvers. Pratt's flag flew from the battleship Texas and ten other gray ships of the line, under Admiral L. M. Nulton, aboard the California, rolled and surged behind him to the selected reviewing ground. Among them steamed the Florida and Utah, perhaps to their last muster with the great fleet. If the London naval pact becomes effective, they will go the scrap heap before another annual mobilization of the United States fleet is held.

Three Ships Missing.

Three active battleships, the Arkansas, Wyoming and New York, were missing from the fleet, awaiting to take aboard the midgets from Annapolis for the summer cruise. Others were under overhaul or undergoing modernization; but the force mobilized for the President represented the bulk of the combat sea power under the stars and stripes.

With sea room to spare, the navy staff worked out a program for the review sending the great armada by the reviewing ship under conditions rarely witnessed by civilians. Light cruisers and destroyers had orders to steam past at a 25-knot dash, then swing away for a ten-mile dash to assigned posts for the maneuvers to follow. Even the ranked lines of the battleships themselves were ordered to pass at a 15-knot clip.

The program also included a feat never before attempted over water and accomplished but once on land. This called for a plane to take off from one of the aircraft carriers and attach itself to the Los Angeles, and then after an interval disengage itself and return to the carrier.

CHURCH VINDICATES BISHOP CANNON, JR. FOR STOCK GAMBLE

M. E. Church, South Committee Decides Bishop Cannon Is O. K.

Dallas, Texas, May 20.—(AP)—In the eyes of his church, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Washington, D. C., today stood vindicated of all charges of gambling in stocks and undue political activities in the 1928 presidential campaign.

His campaign against Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for President, was vindicated several days ago. Last night the committee on Episcopacy of the quadrennial general conference, Methodist Episcopal church, South, cleared his name of blame in the stock market charges.

In his exonerated, the committee, headed by F. P. Culver, of Cisco, and comprised of the leading delegates from each conference in the church, overruled the accusations lodged by Judge G. T. Fitzhugh, of Memphis, Tenn., Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., and a score of other laymen whose number included at least two state supreme court judges.

The accusations centered around Bishop Cannon's admitted transactions with Kable & Company, now defunct brokerage house of New York. His accusers stated he knowingly dealt with a "bucket shop."

Not until the committee's decision was announced did it become known that Cannon himself had first requested the investigation in a letter dated May 2, a week before the conference opened.

Later, after he appeared before the committee, he addressed another communication in which he said that he had "fallen into the hands of sharpers," that he regretted any embarrassment he had caused the church, and that he would do it again.

The letter said he thought he was dealing with a "proper" investment company and that when he realized he was not, that he had made a mistake, he cancelled all contracts.

Under church law, the committee's action is final as regards those charges.

Additional Tracks Being Built For C. & N. W. At Nelson

Contractor Gus Miller of this city Monday morning started a force of men and teams in the North-Western yards at Nelson, where a heavy fill is being thrown up which will support two additional main line tracks. Approximately 25,000 yards of dirt will be moved in building the improvement in the west yards extending almost to the bridge across Rock river. It is probable that another long passing track will be built along the north side of the yards later in the summer.

POPULATION OF DIXON TO FALL SHORT OF GOAL

Commissioner Gannon Says Figures Will Be About 100 Under 10,000

Dixon's population will fall short about 100 persons in reaching the 10,000 mark while Sterling's population will reach that number and possibly exceed the figure, Commissioner Martin J. Gannon announced today, in closing the books for the 1930 census. He estimated that Dixon's population would reach approximately 9,900 while in Sterling, where a spirited campaign has been under way up to the hour of the closing of the records last evening many additional "stragglers" were found who had not been visited by enumerators. Civic organizations took a very active part in the campaign to bring Sterling's population up to the 10,000 mark, while in Dixon this interest was said to be noticeably lacking.

Commissioner Gannon stated this morning that in his opinion, a thorough canvass of Dixon had been made and he gave credit for the locating of many who had not been enumerated to City Clerk Blake Grover and Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber. Civic bodies, he stated, had shown no apparent interest in the outcome of the census in Dixon. In Sterling yesterday, the city was proportioned in two block squares and workers accompanied enumerators in a city wide drive to find residents who had not been visited previously in an effort to bring Sterling's population up to the 10,000 mark.

Commissioner Gannon spent yesterday in Galena making a final check where it was found that more than a hundred names had been omitted in a single ward.

A re-check of the census books of Dixon, Sterling and Galena are to be made this afternoon and the official census will be announced tomorrow. Additional names which have been filed in the office will be forwarded to the census bureau at Washington, D. C., for final investigation.

BLAME SUICIDE OF JAP OFFICER ON LONDON PACT

Lieutenant Commander Died From His Own Sword — Disliked Navy Treaty

Tokyo, May 20.—(AP)—In the tense atmosphere surrounding the return of Admiral Kitora Takarabe, Minister of Marine, from the London conference, and his first conferences with the cabinet and senior naval officers, a sensation was created today by the suicide of a high naval officer, which the press is exploiting as an echo of the navy's bitter opposition to the London pact.

Lieutenant-Commander Elji Kusakari, attached to the naval general staff, slashed his abdomen with a sword aboard a train between Kobe and Tokyo. He died at a hospital at Nuzuma, where he was removed from the train. Although Kusakari's comrades declined to comment on his act, it was said he recently expressed bitterness and despondency over the future of the navy as the result of London treaty.

Guard Admiral
Admiral Takarabe continues under a close guard of motorcycle officers, who accompany his automobile wherever he goes. He conferred with Premier Yuko Hamaguchi today. Later the Premier told reporters he and the Admiral had come to a full agreement of mutual confidence. All indications are that Takarabe will retain the navy portfolio and support the cabinet's ratification fight despite opposition of the navy general staff.

The Hava-Kui of Lieutenant Commander Kusakari, was made the outstanding news story in the Tokyo newspapers today. All the vernacular papers headlined the motive as "indignation over the London treaty."

PENNSYLVANIA IS IN THROES OF HOT PRIMARY ELECTION

Wet Issue Makes Result Difficult To Forecast, Observers Say

Philadelphia, May 20.—(AP)—Candidates in the bitter factional fight that has divided Pennsylvania Republicans as seldom before awaited the decision of the electorate at the polls today.

While the Republicans were engaged in one of the hardest struggles that has ever engulfed the party, the Democrats were without a contest on the state-wide ticket.

Candidates to be voted for at the November election are to be nominated for United States Senator, Governor, and other state offices. Both major parties will choose nominees for congress in every district. The polls close at 7 P. M. Eastern Standard time.

Senator and Governor
The big contests centered on the candidates for United States Senator and Governor, with the wet issue, cutting into the calculations in a way that led seasoned observers to hesitate about forecasting the result. Campaign managers, however, all claimed victory with varying degrees of positiveness.

For the senatorship, Joseph R. Grundy is battling to retain the seat to which he was appointed by Governor Fisher when William S. Vare was rejected. Opposing Grundy are Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, backed by the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh organizations, and Francis H. Bohlen, professor in the law school of the University of Pennsylvania.

For Enforcement
Grundy and Davis are standing on the enforcement plank adopted at the last Republican national Convention and are listed as drys. Bohlen advocates repeal of the 18th amendment, the Volstead act and the state enforcement law. All stand for a protective tariff. Of the three Grundy is running without public announced alliances with any other candidate. His opponents, however, have maintained that he had a secret understanding with Clifford Pinchot, who seeks the gubernatorial nomination.

Davis is on the complete state ticket that carries Francis Shunk Brown, Philadelphia, former attorney general, for governor.

Bohlen has two associates in the "wet" ticket—Thomas W. Phillips, Jr. of Butler, for governor, and Charles Dorrance, Scranton, for lieutenant governor.

Pinchot is Bone Dry
Pinchot, seeking the nomination for the office he filled from 1923 to 1927, has one running mate—Charles F. Armstrong, of Leechburg, a former member of the legislature and co-author of the state prohibition enforcement act. Pinchot is a "bone dry."

CAPONE ARRESTED FOR THIRD TIME; CHARGE VAGRANCY

Miami Police Adopt Policy Of Arresting Him On Sight

Miami, Fla., May 20.—(AP)—Arresting "Scarface Al" Capone for the third time in ten days, Miami authorities altered their previous tactics to permit the release of the Chicago racketeer in $100 bond, but directed him to appear in city court today to answer a vagrancy charge.

The police took Capone into custody last night while he was enroute to a boxing bout. Twice before he had been detained for "investigation," once held in jail overnight in the campaign to cut short his stay here. Each time he gained his freedom by habeas corpus proceedings, but authorities announced their determination to pursue the so-called Chicago plan of arresting reputed gangsters every time a policeman sees them.

Capone and Albert Frignano, a companion, supplied $100 bond each. Both described themselves as real estate men. Capone previously described himself as "retired."

Last night's arrest was made while city commissioners had before them a new vagrancy ordinance, providing a $500 fine or 90 day jail term for anyone convicted as a vagrant. The proposed ordinance among other things defines a vagrant as a person with visible means of support which have been illegally acquired. Unofficially the ordinance is said to have been framed as one of the city's weapons in the fight against Capone's visits here.

Organized labor representatives prevented passage of the new ordinance yesterday, objecting to its phraseology.

ROAD HOGGING TRUCK CROWDED SEDAN OFF PAVEMENT NEAR DIXON

A Buick sedan owned and driven by A. H. Long of Maple Park was badly damaged about 11 o'clock last night when the machine hurred a deep ditch near the Detweiler farm west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway striking two concrete abutments. Mr. Long was driving toward Dixon and claimed that he was crowded off the paving by a west bound truck.

The sedan left the road and struck the abutment of a culvert which passes under the highway, hurdling a 15 foot ditch, the front end of the machine resting on the abutment of another cement culvert which passes under the old right of way of an interurban tracks. A tow car worked the Barron & Carson garage worked until early this morning, removing the wrecked car and hauling it to Dixon. The driver was unhurt and not a glass in the car was broken.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 20.—(UP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin was fighting head winds off the coast of Morocco at 4 P. M. (11 A. M. E. S. Flight not yet particularly rapid owing to headwinds from south by southwest." The position given would be about 160 miles off Cape Blanco.

United Press Staff Correspondent
Seville, Spain, May 20.—(UP)—The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin left Seville at 8:32 A. M. today (3:32 A. M. E. S. T.) on its 60-hour flight across the south Atlantic ocean to open a new commercial route to South America.

The Zeppelin's next destination is Pernambuco, Brazil, the second stop on a tour which will carry it to Cuba and the United States. The Zeppelin paused here all night after a 25-hour flight from Friedrichshafen, its home port.

The number of American passengers aboard the dirigible was increased to five here when Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York City boarded the ship. Four American citizens were aboard during the flight from Friedrichshafen. They were George Crouse, of Syracuse, N. Y., his sister, Mrs. Laura Crouse Durston, of Syracuse; United States Naval Officer Harry Shoemaker; and Karl Von Wiegand, newspaper correspondent.

The infant Alfonso, cousin of the King of Spain, and Col. Emilio Herrera, of the Spanish Air Corps, also joined the passenger list here.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, arrived at the airport shortly before the Zeppelin's refueling was completed and told me newspapermen he expected to arrive in Brazil Thursday morning, although he mentioned no specific time.

The dirigible will communicate during the flight with its own base at Friedrichshafen, with South American stations at Recife (Pernambuco) and Montes Grande, near Buenos Aires, and with other land and ocean stations within its range.

Metereological reports wireless to Dr. Eckener shortly after the Graf Zeppelin left Seville said that there was an anti-cyclonic zone between the Azores Islands and the Bay of Biscay.

South of Morocco, a weak pressure exists, with light winds and clouds. A slight atmospheric disturbance was reported in the vicinity of the Canary Islands, while a clear sky and a light east wind prevailed in the region between Fernando de Noronha and Pernambuco. The Rio de Janeiro area was cloudy with little wind, while a light wind and clear skies prevailed from Santos to Buenos Aires.

OVER CADIZ
Cadiz, Spain, May 20.—(UP)—The dirigible Graf Zeppelin flew over Cadiz at 10 A. M. (5 A. M. E. S. T.) today and started out over the Atlantic ocean on her flight to Brazil and the United States.

A strong east wind appeared to have slowed down the pace of the big ship which was flying through foggy skies when it was lost to sight in the direction of the African coast.

The Graf Zeppelin followed a route which would take it along the coast of Africa, past Rio De Oro and then out over the Atlantic direct to Brazil. The flight from Seville to Cadiz was made in moderate time—about 90 minutes for less than 70 miles.

The dirigible faced an over water

Prairieville School Closed Friday, May 16

Prairieville School of Palmyra Township closed Friday, May 16. A treat of ice cream and cake was enjoyed by the teachers and pupils in addition to the noon day lunch.

At 8 o'clock the closing program was given at the Prairieville church. The program was divided into two parts, the first being given by the Primary Room and the second by the Grammar Room.

The program follows:

Part I.
"Lullaby"—Eileen Bradley and the First Grade.
Dramatized Song, "Quit Tagging Me Around"—Warren Friedrichs, Ruth Manon.
Piano Duet—Warren Friedrichs, Marian Reaver.
Overture, "A Box of Dolls"—Primary Room.

Part II.
Piano Duet—"At School March"—Helen Miller, Mary Drury.
Play, "The Bugtown Band"—Frances Mammen, Ernest Rutt, Robert Lawrence, Lawrence Reaver, Maurice Grobe.
Reading, "The Doctor's Story"—Helen Cash.

Piano Solo, "Angel of Love"—Frances Mammen.
Reading, "Tim's Revenge"—Clarence Kreider.
Piano Duet, "Moonlight Reverie"—Alice Staller, Frances Rutt.
Reading, "Betty and the Bar"—Theodore Kreider.

Overture, "What's the Matter With Sally"—Grammar Room.

Many guests from Sterling, Dixon, and Rockford, besides the patrons of the district enjoyed this splendid program. The primary pupils made a very attractive picture, for they truly resembled Japanese dolls with their kimono, fans, caps, and rosettes. "The Bugtown Band" was uproariously funny and almost "brought down the house." Every member on the entire program was well given and heartily applauded.

Prairieville has been unfortunate this year in the loss of the building which had been a famous landmark for years, but due to the hearty cooperation of all in the community, school has been carried on in the S. S. room of the Prairieville church. The teachers, Edna Pine and Margaret Richardson of Dixon, and the music instructor, Miss Clara McCune of Sterling, have shown that excellent work can be done in spite of difficulties.

Graduates this year are Ernest Rutt, Clarence Kreider, Theodore Kreider, and Lawrence Reaver.

Pupils who have been neither absent nor tardy this year are: Frances Rutt, Robert Lawrence, Warren Friedrichs, Ruth Manon, Kenneth Manon, and Lowell Wechsler. This is the third year of such attendance for Robert Lawrence.

Deaner-Williar Wedding Today

A very pretty yet simple wedding was solemnized this morning at 11:15 o'clock at the parsonage of the First Baptist church when the pastor, the Reverend W. W. Marshall officiated at the ceremony which united the lives of Charles M. Williar of this city, and Miss Hazel M. Deaner of Mendota, Ill. The pretty double ring ceremony was used.

The bride, a most attractive young woman, was beautifully gowned in a rose georgette over satin, and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ehlers of Mendota as best man and matron of honor. Mrs. Ehlers wore a lovely gown in blue and carried yellow roses.

After the impressive ceremony at the Baptist parsonage the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. Ehlers enjoyed a wedding luncheon at the Coffee Shop and the bridal couple departed on a honeymoon, their destination being unannounced. On their return to Dixon where they will reside they will be at home to their friends at 510 West First Street. Both are interesting and delightful young people, the bride being most popular in her home town, Mendota, and the bridegroom who is an efficient employee of the Bales & Wilhelm Barber Shop in Dixon, is a genial and likeable young man. Their many friends join in extending best wishes to them for happiness.

A TIME OF TRANSITION.

It is always just a little bit disheartening to discover that one has left youth behind.

When you are young you can make any kind of plans you like. For all you know, they may come true some day. Anything at all can happen, and you can spin the wildest day dreams imaginable without ever being tripped up by hard facts.

But when you discover that your youth has evaporated you have to make the best of what you have. It's not much use in making elaborate plans. The only thing left is to size up the situation, see what the possibilities are and buckle down to make the most of 'em.

That's the way it is with most of us, anyway; and it is also the way, when you stop to think about it, with nations as well.

All of this is brought to mind by a more or less casual study of the current census figures. They seem to indicate that the United States is leaving its youth behind and reaching maturity; and that, in turn, means that a very radical change in our national philosophy and habits of action is impending.

Population growth is slowing down. Many and many a city finds itself short of the mark that it confidently expected to reach. Rural counties are, in many cases, actually shrinking. Experts predict that in two or three more decades the nation's population will be practically stabilized.

All of this is going to have a profound effect. It means that the old pioneering, boom-town atmosphere is going to disappear and that a more sober, thoughtful philosophy will have to take its place if we are to avoid trouble.

We have always been a nation of pioneers—even after our physical frontiers had been pushed to the west coast. Always there has been rapid growth. Any sort of city or town, almost, could look ahead to constant increase in size. A man's neighbors were always increasing in number.

This affected our whole national character. It bred a blind optimism, a feeling that we could not spoil our chances, a conviction that ever-bigger things were bound to be always ahead of us. It made the lot of the promoter an easy one. It was a tremendously potent stimulant to activity—but it did not lead us to take a great deal of thought for the morrow.

Now the swing of the pendulum is slowing down. Things won't be coming so easily hereafter. The old, slam-bang, full-speed-ahead system must give way to careful planning and wise forethought. The premium on restless energy will not be quite so high, and the demand for cool, analytical brain-power will increase.

A DISTINGUISHED CITIZEN.

The city of St. Louis has had a good many distinguished citizens in its day. But somehow we think that Joseph A. Schneider, the St. Louis traffic cop who died the other day, had just about as fine a record as any of them.

Schneider was famous in his home city for two reasons. First of all, he was a good policeman. He could untangle the worst traffic jam without losing his temper—which, you must admit, is praise of the highest order. But he had another distinction, even greater.

He and his wife had adopted 35 orphan children, having none of their own. Twenty of these adopted youngsters were in the officer's home when he died.

You could enlarge on that performance at considerable length, but there's no need to. The bare statement tells its own story. Thirty-five children saved from orphan asylums and given a real home—human kindness could not go much farther.

If ever a St. Louis citizen deserved a monument, this traffic policeman did. And, incidentally, his wife ought to have one right beside his.

OUR BILL FOR ART.

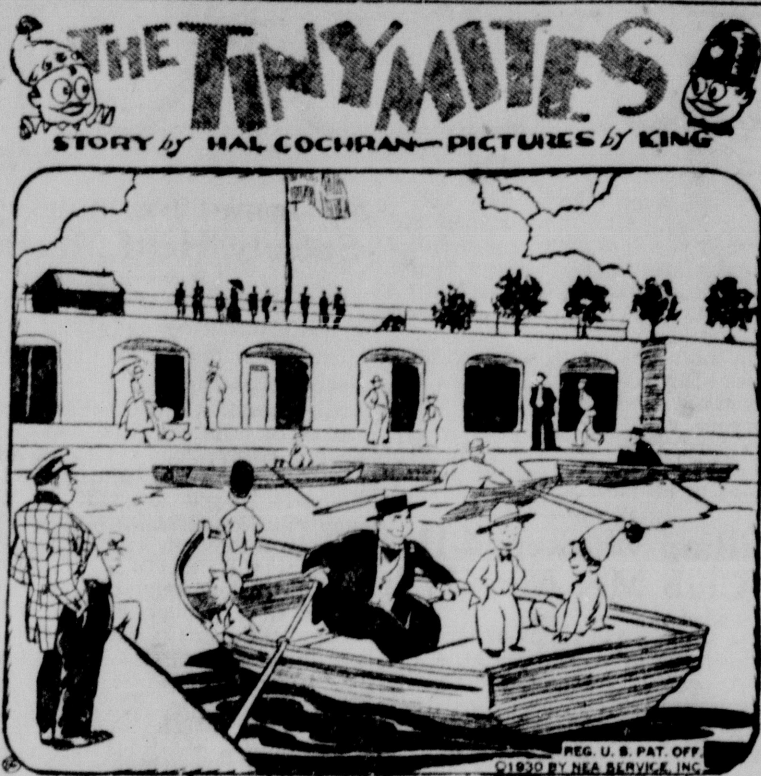

If Americans are a materialistic people, concerned only with profits and similar crude things, the fact isn't reflected in the amount of money they spend on art.

The current issue of International Studio Magazine reveals that Americans last year paid more than $250,000,000 for works of art—the greatest sum ever expended by one nation. Moreover, only one-third of this huge sum went for the works of old masters, the pictures which command fabulous prices. More than $160,000,000 was spent for pictures by contemporary artists.

"There never was a time," says the magazine, editorially, "when the living artist had more recognition or commanded better prices."

Still the notion persists that as a people we are indifferent to art. How long, do you suppose, will it take this notion to die?

One reason why Jack Dempsey is going to Africa to hunt big game may be that he wants to show a dubious public that he can still lick his weight in wild-cats.

The Times watched the horses go upon parade. 'Twas quite a show. They saw both black and white ones in the long and prancing line. Some acted frisky as could be and Carpy shortly said, "Oh, gee! That one there has a ribbon is a winner. My, he's fine."

A man then came up to the bunch and calmly said, "I have a hunch that maybe you would like to ride a horse. Well, that's all right. 'I'll bring a horse for every one and I am sure that you'll have fun. You'll have no trouble, boys, at all, if you'll just hang on tight."

The Tynmites were tickled pink. And Scouty said, "Gee! Just to think that we're to ride prize horses. Say! We'll go out on that big round track and circle it till we come back. Let's ride real slow so we won't give a single horse a scare."

The horses then came to their side and they were off upon a ride. Around the track they gaily went. Oh, what a lot of sport! Course Clowny had to coax his steed to pick up quite a bit of speed. And then suddenly got scared. His horse began to snort.

In not more than a half hour, all the horses were back in a stall and every single Tynmite was satisfied. Said one, "Well, just where are we bound for now? We ought to find more fun, somehow." The Travel Man then said, "We will—before the day is done."

They all got in a cab again and rode for miles and miles and then they came upon a little stream. A boat house stood nearby. The Travel Man cried, "We'll go and shortly have a dandy row. There's nothing that we'll come upon that we're not game to try."

(The Tynmites visit a beautiful garden spot in the next story.)

MILL'S BIRTH

On May 20, 1806, John Stuart Mill, English philosopher and economist, and regarded as one of the foremost thinkers of his time, was born in London.

Taught at home by his father Mill is said to have begun his study of Greek at the age of three. When he was 16, his father sent him to France to be educated. His stay there also gave him an intense interest in politics.

On his return to London he entered the India house as a clerk in the examiner's office, where his father was assistant examiner. He remained with the company for 33 years and rose gradually until he became head of the political department.

Mill took an active part in the political discussions that followed the Revolution of 1830 in France and in the Reform bill movement in England. He established his reputation, however, by publishing his philosophical work, "A System of Logic, Ratiocinative and Inductive." The success of this work paved the way for his famous "Principles of Political Economy."

AIMEE McPHERSON STIRS CURIOSITY BY HER ABSENCE

California Evangelist Fails To Join Pilgrim Band In Paris

Paris, May 19—(UP)—The failure of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, California evangelist, to join her pilgrim band here after a visit to the Holy Land puzzled both the pilgrims and their tourist agency today.

Mrs. McPherson and her daughter, Roberta, were last seen at Constantinople, the 40 pilgrims who arrived here said. The pilgrims, who came to Paris via a visit to the Oberammergau Passion Play, said they saw little of the evangelist leader on the trip to Palestine, where Mrs. McPherson baptised followers in the Jordan.

The pilgrims said Mrs. McPherson and her daughter, were preparing with two guides, for expeditions at Constantinople but apparently they were supposed to join the rest of the party here. The Montmartre cafes, which Mrs. McPherson visited and described "as the flesh-pots of sin" on a previous trip here, were visited by the shepherdless flock of pilgrims, who were not particularly alarmed by the absence of the evangelist.

It was reported here that Mrs. McPherson had attended the Passion Play but the pilgrims said they did not see her. Commenting on the absence of Mrs. McPherson, one of the pilgrims, said:

"We haven't heard from Mrs. McPherson for days but we know she had a good reason to leave the party. She is at the bedside of her daughter, who is ill at Constantinople. After all, her engagement was to conduct a tour of the Holy Land, and Paris certainly isn't the Holy Land."

"We've sung hymns all over the Mediterranean but the brightest spot of our voyage was baptism in the Jordan—not the visit to Paris."

The pilgrims refused to consider that Mrs. McPherson had deserted them, but they were divided on the merits of the French capital. One party sat in the hotel lobby last night chanting hymns and others saw the life of Montmartre.

"Ham" Lewis Has New Story On Self

Los Angeles, May 19—(UP)—J. Hamilton Lewis, once United States Senator for Illinois, and now a Senatorial candidate against Ruth Hanna McCormick, had a new "personal experience" story to tell his audience today.

The experience was gained in a week end trip to San Luis Obispo oil fields—concerned in the litigation which brought Lewis to California. He was in a hurry to get back to Los Angeles. His rush was accelerated by a toothache.

Lewis, known for carefully parted pink whiskers—grown gray now, meticulous dress and Chesterfieldian manners, was taken before a justice of the peace at Moro, Calif.

J. "Ham" Lewis felt constrained to plead the case of his taxi driver whom he had instructed to "do 50" in an attempt to meet a train which would take him to Los Angeles and a dentist.

Lewis told the justice he was an attorney and thought the fine should not exceed $10, especially since he would have to pay it.

"Five for you and five for the county, I guess," hazarded "J. Ham."

"What, you a lawyer in those clothes?" questioned the justice, "and with those whiskers, I ask you, are you a citizen?"

Then he saw Lewis' cane and forthwith decided him to be a "Britisher."

"Not in California, have lawyers fine clothes and canes! Guilty—and $10! And insulting this court, are you, Mr. Barrister, saying $5 comes to me!"

For once Lewis' oratorical ability failed him and he handed the justice $10.

STATE FORCES START ORCHARD CLEANUP DRIVE

Insect Pests and Plant Diseases Found in Illinois Orchards

Springfield, Ill.—(UP)—Owners of neglected orchards are cooperating with the state's cleanup requirements, a survey just completed by the plant industry division of the State Department of Agriculture, revealed here today.

Phil S. Haner, superintendent of the plant, inspection forces, through field observations and reports from fruit growers, located some fifty orchards that harbor insects, pests and plant diseases to an extent sufficient to endanger fruit production on adjacent property.

The insect pest and plant disease law, in effect, condemns any neglected orchard that constitutes a hazard to adjacent property, according to the plant industry superintendent. Thus far efforts to remove the menace that neglect permits, he said, have been limited to the commercial fruit production sections.

Trees that remain unpruned and unsprayed, according to the plant authorities, harbor hordes of destructive insects and develop blights, and plant diseases. These, as foes to successful fruit production, invade adjacent property.

By explaining to the negligent owners that orchards suffering from such neglect are decidedly unprofitable and a menace to their neighbors' production, the plant industry officials find it possible in most cases, he stated, to induce the owner to clear the orchard or, if practical, to overcome objectionable conditions by intensive pruning and repeated spraying.

Records on file in the division of office show that cleanup operations are now underway or contemplated in 35 Illinois orchards. The efforts to effect improvement will continue the agricultural department officials said, until all such hazards are removed from the commercial fruit producing sections of the state.

Women's Club Meet At Springfield Is Drawing Delegates

Springfield, Ill., May 19—(AP)—Each train to Springfield today and all hard roads bring club women to the annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held here the next five days.

A special train at 2 P. M. brought Mrs. J. Marc Fowler of Chicago, the president, and Mrs. Clarence G. Goodwin, also of Chicago, director of the federation's well equipped homes exposition, which has been set up here for the first time in any Illinois city, outside Chicago.

With these two leaders, were 450 Chicago club women, representing 229 clubs in Cook and Lake and other northeast counties.

An executive board meeting will start the federation activities as soon after President Fowler gets here, as possible, and at 8 o'clock this evening with Mrs. Louis L. Emmerson, the Governor's wife, as chief speaker, the well equipped homes exposition will be thrown open.

FARM WEEDS AND HOW TO CONTROL THEM

By Lloyd Breisch

On many farms in this state fully 25 percent of the crop-producing capacity has been destroyed by weeds. Farmers cannot afford to ignore this weed menace, yet there is a sad lack of concerted action to get rid of these enemies of crop production. There are a number of noxious weeds that must be kept from going to seed and those are: quack grass, Canada thistle, burdock, oxeye daisy, snagsong, cocklebur, wild mustard and wild morning glory. The successful eradication of weeds depends upon a knowledge of two important points. First, how long does the plant live? Second, how does it reproduce and spread? According to duration of life there are three classes of plants.

An annual comes up from a seed, bears flowers and seeds, and dies all within one year.

A biennial grows from a seed but produces only roots and leaves the first year. The second year, seeds are produced, and the plant dies.

A perennial is a plant, the roots of which live on year after year, unless killed in some way.

Plants reproduce themselves by (1) seeds alone, (2) roots alone, (3) by seeds and roots both. Most plants reproduce by seeds alone. Morning glory is a plant which reproduces by roots alone.

For purposes of eradication the annual and biennial weeds may be treated alike. The important thing is to keep the plants from going to seed.

When weeds are scattered, there are two ways of killing them, either by pulling them up by the roots or by cutting them. When weeds are cut they should be cut beneath the surface of the earth. Rotation of crops, sometimes proves successful in eradication of weeds.

Canada thistles have been eradicated where good stands of alfalfa were secured and maintained for three years or more. The alfalfa, if it is a good stand, will shade the Canada thistle and prevent it from growing. The same results sometimes can be secured by mowing heavily and seeding down thickly to Kentucky blue grass and left to stand for a series of years.

Farming Factors

By CECIL OWEN

United Press Farm Editor
Washington—(UP)—Specialization pays the farmer as well as the business man, in the opinion of Dr. C. F. Holmes, Agriculture Department expert in farm management.

In response to the question, "What type of farm pays best?" Dr. Holmes cites the large scale western grain and cattle farms in support of his view that bigger farms concentrate ing on one major crop yield higher profits than the small general farms. Farm income figures compiled by the Agriculture Department bore out Dr. Holmes' contention that this type of farm earns more money. The average net income for farmers throughout the United States was $1334 in 1928, while farmers in western states derived a net of $2171 that year.

"Right now cattle farming in the west appears to be giving farmers the largest incomes but this may be temporary only as overproduction is likely to occur if the higher profits in that line continue long. In the long run, I believe the corn belt offers the best opportunities, where a farmer has the alternative of livestock farming when grain prices are low."

"Generally speaking those farms pay best which sell the major share of their crop in the domestic market. Producers of these crops are not subject to foreign competition. In the world market and their prices are likely to be higher because of the higher standards prevailing in the American domestic market."

On this basis cotton farmers, who sell between 50 and 60 per cent of their crop abroad, would seem to be less well off than wheat and hog farmers who sell only about 13 per cent of their products in the world market. Corn is a leading crop in which the United States dominates the world market and therefore offers better opportunities for profit than cotton or other export crops.

Throughout the United States the general trend is toward larger farms. Dr. Holmes said, as improved farm machinery has enabled farmers to cultivate larger acreage with the same help and money outlay as formerly required for smaller farms.

Diversification has long been lauded as a way for farmers to obtain better profits, but Dr. Holmes believes too great stress has been placed on this feature. Some measures of diversification is desirable, he said, but the largest profits are made by farmers who rely mainly on one leading crop or brand of livestock.

In the Corn Belt, Dr. Holmes believes livestock offers opportunities for greater profits than those farms growing corn alone, however, because grain prices are now low and livestock prices are slightly higher so that it pays to convert the grain into livestock.

"The question of which type of farm offers the most opportunities for profit, is of course an exceedingly complex one to answer because of the hundreds of factors involved. In some sections of farm of a certain size and growing certain crops will make more money than another. So there can be no rule laid down for the country. Each farmer must study his locality and its markets and seek to determine what crops are best for his particular section."

TEN BILLION IN ELECTRICITY

New York—(AP)—The nation has a $10,000,000,000 business in the electric light and power industry. That is the amount invested in the industry according to the National Electric Light association.

IODINE IN FEED TESTED

State College, Pa.—(AP)—Forty calves and 1200 chickens are on feed at Pennsylvania state college to determine the value of iodine in livestock feeding. Experiments with 25 cows, 40 pigs and 180 lambs have been concluded.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

Large Sums Will Be Expended in Prizes for Exhibits of Boys and Girls

Springfield, Ill.—(UP)—More than $9,000 in cash prizes will be offered the Junior exhibitors and 4-H club camp activities at the Illinois State Fair this year, according to plans worked out between fair officials and W. H. Smith, Urbana, the junior department superintendent. These premium offerings, which are in excess of last year's awards, are due to more extensive cooperation on the part of livestock breed associations that offer special prizes for baby beefs, dairy calves, swine and sheep exhibits.

Premium offerings, totaling $2,025 will be awarded the baby beef exhibits in the livestock show open to juniors only. Of that amount $446 is provided by breed associations. Shorthorn, Hereford and Aberdeen-Angus calves, developed by club members or by students of vocational agriculture, are eligible to compete.

In the junior swine show, a total of $1,620 will go to the successful exhibitor of sow pigs, pens of four and county club displays embracing the seven breeds that predominate in Illinois—Berkshires, Chester Whites, Duroc-Jerseys, Hampshires, Poland Chinas, Spotted Poland Chinas and Tamworths. In addition there will be a junior section of the exhibit or market type purebred barrows, singly and in pens of three. Swine breed associations provide $160 of the junior pig show offerings.

Junior exhibitors in the lambs of sundry breeds show will compete for prizes totaling $754, including $110 from sheep breeders' associations and the junior show of poultry offers $165 in awards. Specific breed and variety prizes in the junior poultry show include offerings in Barred and White Leghorns and White and Buff Orpingtons. There are also prizes for the best of all other breeds in the American, English and Mediterranean classes.

JUDGING CONTESTS

In addition to the stock and poultry shows, open to the juniors, they will participate in a wide range of judging contests and demonstrations, and a liberal array of prizes will await the winners in the sewing section, the girls' style show and the health contest.

On Saturday, August 16—opening day of the state fair, the "healthiest girl" and the "healthiest boy" in the club camp will be selected and rewarded. In addition to the enviable distinction of placing first in this state-wide competition, the winners will be eligible to enter the lists of champions from all other states in the 4-H club Congress to be held at Chicago, in December.

Abundant provisions have been made this year to house the youthful farmers and potential home makers in the 4-H club camp on the fair grounds. State and county leaders in junior club activities will be in charge of this encampment.

ILLINOIS YOUTH A REAL DAIRY JUDGE

He has the "makins" of a real dairy judge. J. G. Cash, of Brocton, who was awarded a handsome gold watch by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute as first prize in dairy judging at the tenth annual student judging contest at the University of Illinois. Young Cash had the highest score of the upper classmen for judging the five major breeds. Besides carrying a full schedule at the University, young Cash is working 15 to 18 hours a day in the University dairy office as student help.

Taxing Property On Income Value Has Farm Backing

BY FRANK L. WELLER

(Associated Press Farm Editor)

Washington—(AP)—Supported by farm leaders for the last decade, a plan to tax real estate on its production value rather than its sale value is to be presented to the governors of 48 states, meeting in Chicago June 25.

The conference was called by the national taxation committee of the American farm bureau federation. Federal officials and tax specialists have been invited.

The plan to be considered would upset a large part of the American system of taxation. Whereas taxes heretofore have been assessed on the capital value of property, it proposes to make the assessment against the average net production value.

Under the present system property that is held at a loss pays proportionate taxes with that which returns a profit.

Efforts to obtain legislation permitting the creation of a taxation system based on "ability to pay" are under way in Michigan, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Colorado and a few other states. In most cases amendment of the state constitution is required, which is a cumbersome and tedious task requiring the support of public sentiment.

The conference is expected to launch a movement to obtain from the federal government a rule permitting the deduction of state income levies from federal income taxes, as is done in the case of inheritance taxes.

The proposal simply is that where an individual now is paying both a state and federal income tax, the amount of the state tax would be deducted from the amount of the federal tax. The result would be a continuation of state revenue from income taxes but a decided reduction in federal revenue.

Behind the plan is the thought that it eventually would make it possible to shift from the general property tax to the income tax as the chief means of support for state and local governments.

If the inheritance tax provision is made to apply to income taxes, it is believed that state governments will adopt the income tax more generally, because they then will have no fear that industries will move into adjoining states where no income tax is levied. It is provided that where no income tax is paid to the state its equivalent shall be paid into the federal treasury.

THE QUALITY IN EGG PRODUCTION TO BE IMPROVED

Consumers and Dealers Urged to Cooperate in Campaign

Springfield, Ill.—(UP)—Consumers and dealers who purchase eggs in case lots were urged to lend their cooperation to the "better egg" campaign in a statement issued by Stuart E. Pierson, director of the State Department of Agriculture here today.

"The Illinois egg law," Pierson said, "requires that every case of eggs produced in Illinois must have enclosed a certificate of candling, stating the name of the candler, the place and date of candling, and the name and address of the firm or individual dealer offering the eggs."

The food inspection forces, under the supervision of Perry B. McCullough, Pierson explained, have outlined an extensive program for improvement in the quality of eggs produced in Illinois. Plans include candling demonstrations in conjunction with farm bureau meetings and other public gatherings, and the distribution of instructive bulletins that set forth the necessity of candling eggs.

Egg producers who fail to market eggs that pass inspection, the officials stated, injure their own business by effecting a reduction in the demand for eggs. They pointed out that the sale of bad eggs, aside from being detrimental to the business, is in direct violation of the law.

"Consumers, anxious to secure 12 good eggs in every dozen purchased," Pierson said, "can aid in bringing this about by demanding that the eggs they buy have been candled and the bad eggs rejected when offered by the poultry flock owners."

"Complete compliance with the egg candling requirements will give the eggs produced in Illinois a better reputation in the markets of the nation, and will thereby increase demands for this important product of the farms throughout the state."

TREATMENT OF SOIL EXPERTS U. OF I. MAKE TOUR

Several Counties Named for Holding of Instruction Meetings

Urbana, Ill.—(UP)—Proper treatment of soil which will result in more profitable wheat crops, will be featured along with hints on other proven methods of soil improvement in a series of field meetings to be held during June on twelve of the soil experiment fields which the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois maintains over the state, according to an announcement today by Dr. F. C. Bauer, chief of the field staff.

The schedule includes: Enfield, White County, June 3; Ewing, Franklin county, June 4; Sparta, Randolph county, June 5; Lebanon, St. Clair county, June 6; Oblong, Crawford county, June 7; Newton, Jasper county, June 18; Toledo, Cumberland county, June 19; Carlinville, Macoupin county, June 20; Clayton, Adams county, June 21; Carthage, Hancock county, June 25; Dixon, Lee county, June 26; and Antioch, Lake county, June 27.

Wheat now growing on the respective fields will not be cut until after the meetings so that farmers can see for themselves just how the crop on different types of soil is benefited by the various soil treatments which are being compared in the field experiments.

There are enough other attractions on the fields so that every farmer attending will find something of value, Dr. Bauer said. Various types of clover for use as hay, forage, and soil improvement are growing under different systems of soil treatment. Oats will be a point of attraction to a number of fields. Experimental plantings of corn will be explained and various kinds of crop rotation shown to farmers attending the meetings.

Representatives from the agricultural colleges will be present to explain the experimental work and summarize and interpret results.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN MARKET PRICES NOTED

Deficiency in Demand Accounts for Easy Trend in Beef Cattle Prices

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—While cattle prices stiffened early in May, they turned easy soon after and reached new low levels for the season, the Prairie Farmer's market review said today. "Arrivals in the last 10 days," the review said, "have been somewhat larger than during most of April and late March, and beef demand has continued deficient. Finished steers are scarcer than usual and the supply of common and medium steers has been above normal. The Chicago top stands at $14.75 but the bulk of the steers are selling at $12 downward. The downward trend has been in progress for over nine months."

"Hog prices yielded slightly when receipts increased early in the past week, but the previous low points of the late winter and spring period were not broken, and the market stiffened when supplies diminished again. Demand for product is none to brisk so that the larger run to be expected in the next four or five weeks may not be absorbed without tending the price curve downward."

"Lamb prices skyrocketed two dollars in two weeks when it became evident that the excess of winter fed lambs had gone into the market hopper and the movement of California lambs remained moderate. Receipts at leading markets have declined nearly 25 per cent in the last five weeks and probably will drop off 20 per cent more in the next 30 days."

"Buying operations in the new clip wool in both the territory and fleece wool states have been expanded slowly without much change in price levels in the last two or three weeks."

"Wheat prices have displayed predominant weakness in spite of stabilization. Cooperation support, reduced speculative pressure and occasional spurts in export sales. Evidence of a decided gain in demand for wheat by importing countries is still lacking."

"The price of corn is rather high compared with other grains and domestic prices are lofty compared with quotations on the new crop in Argentina. New crop conditions may become more of a market influence in the next 30 days."

Receipts of eggs at leading markets have been diminishing gradually the peak of the movement probably since the first week in April so that has been seen. Prices have been gradually receding in the last three weeks for storers became less anxious to add to their large holdings. Prices for hens have declined 20 to 25 per cent in the last five weeks."

SICKNESS ON INCREASE

Daily Health Talk

THE LITTLE CHILD'S TEETH
BY ROSAMOND PRAEFER, R. N.,
Bureau of Child Hygiene,
Syracuse, N. Y.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

The child's first teeth are much more important than many people realize. First because they serve the child during the years when his growth is most rapid and proper nutrition is essential. To grind the food properly the teeth must be even and whole. They must be kept clean and any cavities filled or the poisons from the cavities and unclean teeth will go into the child's stomach mixed with his food.

Second healthy first teeth are necessary to keep the mouth in good condition for the permanent teeth. If any of the first teeth must be removed before they are ready to come out, the jaw may not develop naturally and the second teeth will be irregular. This results in ugly, crooked teeth, failure of the chewing surfaces to meet squarely and do their work properly and difficulty in keeping them clean.

We should pay special attention to the first permanent molar teeth. They appear just back of the last baby molars when the child is about six years old. These are called the "six year molars" and are perhaps the most important teeth the child will have. Small cavities are especially apt to develop in the crevices of these six year molars and should be taken care of early by the dentist. If these are lost no others will come in their place.

Care of the first teeth is also important because the early years are the time when the child forms life habits. The habit of proper care of the teeth should be started early and be well established by the time the child starts to school.

The teeth and gums need exercise, so some hard food is necessary. Zwieback, hard dry bread or rusk are best. Sweets do not build teeth. They should be given in small amounts and after meals. The teeth should then be thoroughly brushed, as sugar left on them promotes decay.

As soon as the child has any teeth they should be cleaned regularly after eating. While still very small he should have his own toothbrush, a very little one with a single row of bristles. From time to time he may be promoted to slightly larger ones.

Habitual sucking of a pacifier, or thumb, or bottle, causes misshapen jaws and crooked teeth. Never allow a child to form this habit.

No tooth should be allowed to become so bad that it aches. A bad tooth may also cause trouble elsewhere in the body. From the time the first teeth appear the child should be taken regularly to his dentist, so that smallest difficulties may be found and cared for. This saves trouble and discomfort and saves the teeth.

Make Hay Swiftly and Surely With McCormick-Deering Tools

Hay is one of the most profitable crops on the farm, yet the risk attending the production of good hay is probably greater than any other crop. Bad weather often accompanies the haying season and the uncertainties make it doubly necessary to have the most efficient equipment in order to produce a money making crop. In the McCormick-Deering line of hay machines are self-dump rakes and tedders, side rakes and tedders, windrow and gearless hay loaders, sweep rakes, and stackers. Two types of mowers, regular and vertical lift. Look over your haying equipment now and see if there isn't something you need in order to be sure of harvesting your crop promptly and without the risk of loss.

Four Pilots

Are Considered
New York, May 20—(AP)—Speculation as to who will be at the helm of the defender of the America's cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock Fifth in September has brought the names of four skippers to the forefront.

Final choice of a skipper is in the hands of the American selection committee but indications now are that he will be chosen from among former Commodore George Nichols, son-in-law of J. P. Morgan; John S. Lawrence of Boston; Harold S. Vanderbilt, and either Paul Hammond or Langdon K. Thorne.

Among them they will pilot all four of the new sloops built to withstand Sir Thomas' latest challenge for the cup the United States never has lost.

Commodore Nichols will be at the helm of the Westmore, Lawrence will handle the Yankee, either Hammond or Thorne will pilot the Whirlwind, and Vanderbilt already has had the Enterprise, fourth prospective defender, out against the Vanitie and Resolute in test races.

G. W. Freeman of Baltimore, owner of the Ned O., which finished third in the Kentucky derby, has decided to enter his horse in the American derby to again oppose Gallant Fox. Trainer Mose Goldblatt has told Judge Hay that Harry Payne Whitney's Bezonian is being trained specially for the American derby. Which one probably will be entered also.

Carrying Water to the Elephants

Is there a man so devoid of human sensations who has not carried water to circus elephants for a ticket to the big show sometime or other? If there is he can be considered a rarity—something out of the ordinary. Most men recall that in their boyhood days they performed this unusual job and got enough thrills from it to form an ineffaceable memory of the event.

This city on Tuesday, May 27 will have the mammoth Robbins Bros. Circus for the day. They give two performances—matinee and night. It is unnecessary to mention the fact that the only time for kids to get the job of watering the five herds of elephants carried by the Robbins Bros. will be in the forenoon. Not that the elephant does not need water more times than once in the morning, but the circus by noon or even later, has perfected its water system and it is easy to handle the job of watering. The best time is right after the show gets in town and the herds are sent to the lot for their location. That is the time when the elephant trainer begins looking around for kids to water the beasts and he always offers as an inducement a ticket of admission to the big performance.

The Robbins Bros. circus is the largest in America giving a street parade. The free street march takes place at noon.

The Husband Hunter

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 NATALIE CONVERSE tries to conquer her jealousy for her husband, ALAN. But they quarrel over BERNADINE LAMONT, a night club hostess, who asks him to look after her. Her father had saved Alan's life during the war. Alan seeks sympathy from his secretary, PHILIPPA WEST, who successfully schemes to arouse Natalie's suspicions, and one day Alan finds her gone. Wounded pride prevents Natalie from seeking a reconciliation, and Alan turns to Philippa, who pleases her not cleverly.

Fearing that Alan does not mean to propose marriage, Philippa tells Alan that her parents object to her going with a married man. Alan confesses to more than friendship for her, and they become engaged. Confronting her family with the news, her father becomes enraged.

Natalie, unhappy and repentant, writes Alan that she is returning to their home, without, however, mentioning a reconciliation. A friendly letter from Natalie's mother, followed by a telegram from Natalie, asking him to meet her at the station, leaves Alan hopeful, but baffled as to Natalie's intentions. Philippa, fearful of losing Alan, tells him she is obliged to leave home because of trouble with her father. Alan offers a raise in salary to offset the expense of renting an apartment, and promises to meet her that night, but says he will be somewhat late.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 CHAPTER XXVIII
 "MAY be late."

Philip thought of the words time and again, as six o'clock came, six-thirty, seven, seven-thirty, and Alan had not appeared to take her to dine.

She grew fretful and rebuffed her mother's attempts to talk with her. The one black look she gave her father silenced him when he offered a sulky greeting to her in the kitchen, where she was putting the electric iron to heat.

Mr. and Mrs. West had decided not to interfere with her. Both knew she would not tolerate it, and Mrs. West had begged, that for Philip's own good, they let her alone. "She'll leave if we quarrel with her anymore, and I want her here, where I can keep an eye on her, at least part of the time," she had said.

Her mother saw she was upset, and wanted to comfort her. It cut her to the heart to have Philip spurn her sympathy. She felt that she had in some manner failed her girl, little dreaming the truth that Philip, while of her flesh and blood, was no more kindred to her in spirit than the veriest stranger.

The air of the household had grown difficult to breathe by eight o'clock.

It was all the strain that Philip was laboring under, throwing a cloud over those who came in contact with her. Through her mind there went a continuous reel of pictures of Alan and Natalie, together here, there, everywhere.

She could not console herself with the possibility that the train, Natalie's train, was late. She had called up the Grand Central Station, and learned it had come in on time.

TEN minutes after eight she was getting wild. Then Alan came. She saw him from a window, jump out of a taxicab and pay the driver with a wave of the hand that she knew meant the man was to keep the change.

Well, he certainly looked happy. Seemed to have not the slightest idea of having committed an offense. Philip was so glad to see him that suddenly she was a bit less ready to pounce on him, though she could cheerfully have wiped the smile off his face with a resounding slap.

She hurried to her room, and permitted her mother to admit Alan, knowing that neither would be likely to say anything that would embarrass her. Besides, she would not give them time. She wanted only a moment or two to collect herself, along with her hat and wrap, before returning to the living room.

When Alan saw her, the fire had gone out of her eyes, the hard, set look from her lips. She was pensively quiet, but not martyr-like enough to be irritating. Remembering what Natalie had done to Alan, she wanted him to think that she, Philipa, had implicit trust in him.

But it was hard for her to keep from stamping her foot and demanding to know what he meant by keeping her waiting like that. Especially, as she saw in his eye a light that reflected bubbling spirits.

Alan, touched by her attitude, felt that an explanation of his tardiness was due her, even though he had prepared her to expect it.

"I had to take Natalie home," he said simply, as they walked a few blocks to a restaurant where they had eaten once or twice.

Philipa maintained a silence which she somehow kept from being sullen; perhaps because she tucked her hand in his arm for answer.

"She had her sister Florence with her," he added, and Philipa tucked her arm a little tighter.

"It would have been beastly to let them go up there alone to that house," Alan went on, and was not aware that he was speaking apologetically.

"You had the furnace started, didn't you?" Philipa asked, and she said it pleasantly.

"Oh yes, yes, of course. But there were certain little things that I should have looked after before."

Philipa smiled. She knew he was not looking at her. If his gaze was anywhere in particular, it was up toward the star-spinked sky.

"And you had the maid there, and the groceries!" she queried.

"Naturally I did everything Natalie asked me to do," Alan answered. "But you know how it is, Philipa, coming back to a house that's been closed up, I had to see her through it."

Her mother saw she was upset, and wanted to comfort her. It cut her to the heart to have Philip spurn her sympathy. She felt that she had in some manner failed her girl, little dreaming the truth that Philip, while of her flesh and blood, was no more kindred to her in spirit than the veriest stranger.

Arrest Elgin Piano Factory Man; Claim He Burned Factory

Elgin, Ill., May 19—(AP)—Thomas Farrell, 65 year old president of the piano company bearing his name, is held on a charge of arson following the destruction by fire yesterday of his factory here.

The fire was preceded by an explosion, tearing a hole in the rear wall and buckling the side walls. Fire Marshal Henryson said he found in the building 10 five gallon water jars which he believed had contained gasoline. Paper and excelsior, he said, had been strewn in the factory aisles.

Farrell denied having set the fire. He said the plant is insured for $80,000, half of which was taken out six weeks ago.

HELD FOR MURDER.

Hillsboro, Ill., May 19—(UP)—Louis Freckovich, 34, was held by police here today following the fatal shooting of Morton McPherson, 45, at the latter's home yesterday. The shooting followed an alleged quarrel between the two men over abusive remarks McPherson is said to have made to Mrs. Freckovich. Both men are coal miners. Four shots were fired, one of the bullets hitting Freckovich in a finger necessitating its amputation.

BUS BURNS UP
 Bethany, Mo., May 19—(UP)—A passenger bus, bound from Kansas City to Des Moines, crashed through a guard railing on a bluff one mile north of here today, rolled down the embankment and burst into flames while its passengers narrowly escaped death. Five persons were injured, one dangerously.

George Jackson released his fellow passengers by breaking a window a moment before the coach burst into flames. The bus and baggage were destroyed with an approximate loss of $20,000. The vehicle was a Pickwick-Greyhound carrier.

NO IDENTIFICATION

Lynd, Minn., May 19—(AP)—The body of a man found in a box car here last Wednesday, the head crushed and the hands and feet bound, was buried without identification today. The man was first believed to be Willard Jones, Springfield, Ill., but a brother failed to identify a photograph of the victim.

CHURCH IS BOMBED

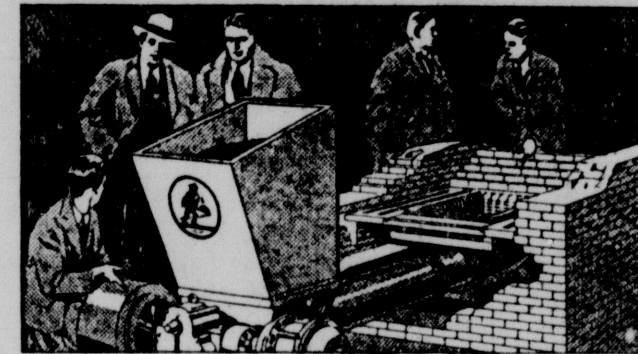

Joliet, May 19—(AP)—Explosion of a dynamite bomb in the yard of St. Mary's Catholic church here Sunday morning tore a small hole in the edifice and shattered windows in nearby buildings.

The church, a Croatian congregation, recently was split into factions, two clubs being formed within the congregation. The Rev. Father George Volich is pastor of the church.

BUILDING IN NACHUSA

IRON FIREMAN

—the machine that made coal an automatic fuel

IRON FIREMAN non-agitated forced underfiring cuts fuel bills 15 to 50 per cent, for it burns smaller sizes of coal, which cost less per ton. And it burns less coal. Automatically maintains even heat or boiler pressure, makes a fire 500 to 1000 degrees hotter than with hand firing, reduces labor costs, eliminates smoke.

For homes, apartments, and commercial heating and power plants up to 200 boiler h. p. . . sold on convenient terms.

An Iron Fireman engineer will call and survey your plant, and render a report that fairly and accurately contrasts your present results and costs with results and costs you may expect from an Iron Fireman. Ask us for this service. It is free.

This test is an Eye-opener

even to hard-boiled mechanics

Men who know motors appreciate the low carbon forming feature of New Iso-Vis Motor Oil. Here is the carbon formed by various oils under the same conditions—New Iso-Vis at the left. It is only about 1/2 of the average carbon deposit from various premium-priced oils.

pistons and cylinders and accurately measured.

New Iso-Vis not only deposited a minimum of carbon but this carbon was actually 50% less than the average carbon deposit of the better grade oils tested.

But this is only one of the results of the special refining process by which this new type oil is made. It has a wider temperature range. It lubricates effectively at low temperatures and all the way up to temperatures far beyond the highest on your gauge.

Moreover, New Iso-Vis is the only motor oil that will not thin out in your crankcase. Every motorist familiar with the diluted condition of motor oil after a few hundred miles in the crankcase will appreciate what this means. New Iso-Vis is actually as heavy and oily when you drain it off as when you first put it in.

Any Standard Oil dealer or service station attendant will be glad to drain your crankcase, flush and refill with New Iso-Vis Motor Oil.

FAR LESS than the normal wear was found in the parts of this engine after a 50,000 mile test run on New Iso-Vis. That shows the all-around efficiency of this improved motor oil that will not thin out in your crankcase.

JUST how much does the amount of carbon in your engine depend upon the kind of oil you use? Here is a test that has surprised even experienced mechanics.

To make this test we took an engine out of a car, placed it on blocks in the laboratory, and ran it under exactly the same conditions with various brands of lubricating oil, including New Iso-Vis. Each oil was given a 50-hour test.

At the end of each 50-hour run, every bit of carbon was removed from

The New Polarine also is produced by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.
